Unexplained Suicide of a Boy Found Hanging in His Father's Barns

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. DELPHI, June 9 .- Frank Foreman, the thirteen-year-old son of William Foreman. committed suicide by hanging himself in his father's barn vesterday afternoon. The cord was fastened to a ladder, and, in order to render the work effective, he was compelled to lift his feet up from the floor. The boy was unusually bright, and various reasons are given for the deed. This is the third suicide committed by mere boys in this neighborhood during the past twelve months, and the matter is exciting no little comment. All of them were the sons of farmers. One of the boys lived a few miles north of this city, and hanged himself to a high limb in a dense thicket. The second lived three miles west of this city, and took his life by blowing his brains out with a shotgun, placing the barrel in his mouth.

Hon. J. N. Huston Spoke.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. CONNERSVILLE, June 9 .- The nineteenth annual convention of the Catholic Total Abstinence Society of the State is now in session in this city. President D. P. Downs presided at the session during the day, at which Mayor Downs delivered an address of welcome. The usual committees have been appointed and are now very busy at work. The following noted clergymen are present: Mgr. A. Bessonies, V. G., of Indianapolis; Father Schnell, of Logansport; Father D' Arco, of Liberty; Father H. Allerding, of Indianapolis; Father John Staunton, of New Albany.

The grand street parade by the Knights features of the day's programme. To-night was given up to speech-making, at which ex-United States Treasurer J. N. Huston made an address of welcome at Andre's Opera-house. The convention will finish its work tomorrow.

Francis Murphy's Good Work. Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

WINCHESTER, June 9 .- Francis Murphy began a ten days' meeting here to-night speaking to an immense audience. Large numbers have already signed the pledge, among them some who have been topers for years. A choir of more than lifty singers furnished music. There are only three saloons here, and it is believed this effort will render them so unprofitable that they will abandon the traffic.

LEBANON, June 9 .- The temperance meet ing that commenced here May 25 closed last night. Francis Murphy, assisted by his two sons, has succeeded in getting 2,760 blue-ribbon signers. The work is to be continued during the summer. The churches are to dispense with service on every Sunday evening and meet in a massmeeting at Brown's Opera-house to further the cause of temperance. Since the meeting began three saloons have closed their doors and declare they will go out of the Kokomo's Famous Bath-Tub Case. Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

KOKOMO, June 9 .- Dr. George Tykle, of this city, was put on trial this afternoon for scalding John A. Clark to death in a bath-tub in December, 1889. Clark was a helpless paralytic aged seventy, and very wealthy. He entered the bath at 8 o'clock in the evening remaining there until 8 the next morning, when he was found dead, being literally cooked in the boiling water.

The skin and flesh all sloughed off his feet and legs, and every part of the body was parboiled. It is claimed that Tykle, the keeper of the bath-rooms, was intoxicated and turned the gas on strong under the tub and left, leaving Clark alone all night. A plea of insanity will be set up in defense.

Rivers of Oil. Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

BLUFFTON, June 9 .- The large oil well struck last Saturday on the Cory farm, located eight miles southeast of this city. has an estimated yield of 250 barrels per day. It is the largest producing well in the county and has caused much excitement among the oil men in this vicinity. When drilled the oil was thrown high above the derrick. It soon filled the tanks erected for it, and is now flowing down the little streams and low places, a complete waste. John French, a farmer who resides ten miles from the well, was in the city today with a bucket full which he scooped out of Six Mile, a small stream east of here.

Colonel Thompson's Birthday. Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

TERRE HAUTE, June 9 .-- To-day was Col. R. W. Thompson's eighty-second birthday. Indiana's grand old man was in good health and much pleased by the quiet but friendly recognition of the anniversary by his old friends. He went to dinner at his son-inlaw's house, where he was surprised to find Senator Voorhees, Hon. Thomas H. Nelson and others. Later in the evening about twenty-five of Terre Haute's leading citicongratulated him on his long life and good health. zens called on him in a body and informally Stricken with Apoplexy. Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

ANDERSON, June 9 .- Thomas B. Orr. one of the leading attorneys of this city and the county attorney, was stricken with apoplexy about 6 o'clock this morning. Mr. Orr was at his hotel, when he auddenly fell to the floor. Physicians were hurriedly summoned. He suffered several convulsions and for hours trembled on the verge of death. He regained consciousness later in the day, but is in a very serious condition, and there remains but little hope of his recovery.

Hat Factory for Wabash.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. WABASH, June 9 .- David Wolf, manufacturer of hats, at Newark, N. J., where he employs two hundred men, has closed a contract for the removal of his factory at once to Wabash. The Board of Trade here gives him $20,000 bonus. The new institution will afford employment to 250 people, and will turn out all styles of head-gear. Work on the building commences at once, Mr. Wolf entering into a bond of $5,000 for the fulfillment of his part of the contract.

Funeral of a Prominent Mason.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. ANDERSON, June 9 .- The funeral of Richard Harris, late superintendent of the rodmill at the American Wire-nail Company's works, took place this afternoon. The funeral was largely attended, being one of the largest ever held in the city. The Forresters, A. A. of I. and S. W. and the Masonic fraternity turned out. Mr. Harris was prominent in Masonic circles, and was at one time a member of the Grand Lodge of Masons in Scotland.

Following him came Frank Breading, who, after a long and intensely-excited argument, in which the best legal talent of the city was engaged, received like treatment, and he failed to get a license. Discouraged at their predecessors' failures, Elmer Crist and William Brown withdrew their applications. John H. Rousseau, the last, stood the fight, but lost. The ladies of the W. C. T. U. have succeeded in closing five of the nine saleons that were doing business here.

Drowned While Bathing.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. FORT WAYNE, June 9 .- Kirby Jackson, aged sixteen, a pupil of the Central Grammar School, finished all his examinations to-day and left his school with a light heart to bathe, with some companions, in the St. Mary's river. He was taken with cramps and was drowned before help could reach him. He was an only son.

Democrats Voted for Him. Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

ANDERSON, June 9 .- S. M. Kiltner, one of the leading young attorneys of this city, was unanimously re-elected as city school trustee by the Council last night. Mr. Kiltner is a stalwart Republican. He has made an excellent record as an officer, and the honor is a high compliment, as Demo-crats are not in the habit of voting for Republicans in this city.

Killed Himself Through Carelessness. Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

LOGANSPORT, June 9 .- John Douglass, aged eighteen, was instantly killed this morning by the accidental discharge of a target gun, which he held by the muzzle while seated in Hardy's oil-mill. The ball, a 22-caliber, passed through his heart. It is supposed that the trigger caught in the step on which he was seated.

Prof. Barrett, city electrician and chief of the electrical bureau of the world's fair, when asked about the matter, said: "Although I do not personally know that such a combination has been made, the National company at Cleveland, I think, is the principal concern of the alleged trust. The ones outside are the Parker Russell Company, of St. Louis, the Excelsior, Solar and a new manufactory, the Aluminum, of Buffalo. Prices have not been affected to my knowledge yet, but, of course, when smaller concerns are frozen out it is an easy matter to raise rates." The trust, it is said, is composed of the National Carbon of Cleveland, which recently bought the Bolton works after an assignment; the Standard, Brush and Thomson-Houston companies, also of Cleve-land, and the Fidelity Carbon Manufactur-ing Company, of St. Louis. It is believed also that the Farady Carbon Company is in Canada's Dead Premier.

OTTAWA, June 9.- The body of Sir John Macdonald now lies in state in the Senate chamber. Since 10 o'clock this morning there has been a perfect jam about the main entrance. At 5 A. M. a private funeral service was conducted at Earnschiffe. Rev. J. J. Bogart officiated. An hour later the remains were borne to the Senate chamber by six members of the Dominion police, six carriages, in which were seated relatives and warm personal friends of the deceased, following. At 10 o'clock the Senate doors were thrown open. Lord Stan-ley, accompanied by his staff, was the first to enter. As he paused at the catafalque to take a farewell look at the old chieftain he deposited a beautiful wreath on the casket. Next came the members of the Cabinet, Senators and members of Parliament. The scene is an imposing one. Thousands of ladies paid their last tribute to the late Premier. He looks natural in death. Relays of members of Parliament are on duty at the bier. The Senate chamber is artistically draped for the occasion.

Rotten Building Association,

BALTIMORE, June 9.- The alleged shortage in the accounts of the late Jacob Bonnett, secretary of Rothschild Building Associations Nos. 19 and 20, caused Ernest M. Sonnett, a son of the deceased, to make an assignment for the benefit of creditors. Jacob Bonnett and his son formerly conducted the boot and shoe business under the firm name of Jacob Bonnett & Son. The assignment, it is said, is a precautionary measure, as some of the elder Bonnett's notes have been discovered bearing the indorsement of the firm. The receivers estimate that the liabilities of the associations will aggregate $100,000. The assets are about $6,000 or $8,000, in mortgages and what may be realized from Jacob Bonnett's

CHICAGO, June 9 .- In the presence of nearly seven thousand people Ed Corrtgan's horse, G. W. Cook, won the Spirit of the Times stake, to-day, at Hawthorne, beating Racine, Proctor Knott and several others scarcely less famous. It was Racine's first race east of the Rocky mountains, and, as if conscious of the interest with which he was regarded, he made a fine effort and was leading in the stretch, when suddenly the Chicago favorite, rid-den by Monk Overton, shot forward, in the nick of time, and won at the wire by a short head, with Racine second and Proc-Knott a good third. Jealousy was the cause, although there seems to be foundation for it. The murderer was arrested, but refuses to say a word about the affair.

Darkness at Noon.

BANGOR, Me., June 9 .- To-day has been equal to the famous yellow day, eight years ago. It was so dark at noon that all electric-light currents were put on and many were frightened. The cause cannot be explained, although some people claim that it was smoke from the forest fires.

A Kissing Chinaman. Brooklyn Standard-Union. Sam Lee, a Chinaman, created considerable excitement last night in the vicinity of Leonard street and Montrose avenue, by kissing every woman and child that happened along. When special efficer Vanderlin attempted to arrest him he drew a knife and slashed at his captor. Lee was dressed in the garb of a sailor. He had a long rope in his pocket, which he tried to tie around his neck. A charge of lounging was made against him and he was locked up. He acted so strange in the cell that a watch was kept upon him all night. Justice Goetting committed him to Raymond-street jail this morning to have his sanity inquired into. While standing before the bar he acted as though his mind was unbalanced. He was committed in order that his mental condition can be determined.

"Blue Pete" and Baccarat.

Baccarat can be played for larger stakes and with more betters, but the classic cowboy game of "Blue Pete," with its four points, is far more exciting and less humiliating to the bartender. Blue Pete intro-duced to the country houses of Great Britain would save Wales the trouble of carrying baccarat counters, and the countrymen the losses they are likely to sustain in playing with that expert gambler and all-round sport. The cowboy game is conbankruptcy, and there is scarcely a possibility of cheating. It would elevate the morals of Tranbycroft and save the hostess, guests and country a repetition of the Gordon Cumming incident.

TRIALS OF PRESBYTERIANS

Severe Terms Offered the Suspended Preachers of the Pittsburg Synod.

Case Drawing to a Close-Epworth League-Indiana Chantanqua-Rev. Dickey on the Effects of the Briggs Case.

PITTSBURG, June 9.-The cases of the suspended ministers on trial before the Reformed Presbyterian Synod will probably close to-morrow. This morning Rev. W. L. C. Sampson and J. R. J. Milligan concluded the cases for the suspended ministers. Their arguments did not differ materially from the others. Rev. Milligan said he voted in 1889, but he was not then convinced the action of the synod was right. He believed then and now that the position taken was inconsistent with the principles of the church. Rev. Dr. George followed with his argument for the defense. Like his opening address he spent most of his time in personal explanations in vindica-tion of his conduct. He had not concluded when the synod took the noon recess. The trials have now been in progress two weeks and most of the delegates are weary. This morning numbers of the delegates slept through the proceedings.

At the afternoon session of the Reformed Presbyterian Synod, Dr. McAllister began the closing speech of the trial, which led to a question of veracity between himself and Rev. E. M. Milligan, the latter finally being sustained by witnesses.

Moderator McAllister then announced that questions could be asked, and Elder Torrence, of New York, put such sharp and embarrassing queries to the conservatives he was shut off at once, amid cries of "foul" and "snap judgment" from the liberals. A set of ready-made resolutions were then sprung on the synod, driving all former discussions from the floor. They read:

Resolved, That the suspension of the ministers be now removed on their acceptance of the following conditions:

First—That they severally express their sorrow for the dissensions in the church, so far as they have been the occasion of the same.

Second—That they disayow the East-end platform as a bond of union within the Reformed Presbyterian Church, and that they withdraw from the agreement to maintain the principles set forth in this platform. set forth in this platform. Third-That they engage to abide by the existing law of the church as to voting at civil elections and to holding offices, and to carry this out in the exercise of their office, and that they en-gage not to propagate contrary views to the above while holding positions as ministers in the Reformed Presbyterian Church.

The resolutions then went on to criticise the famous platform adopted by the ministers on trial, and fully exonerated Rev. A. W. McClurkin from any part in its forma-Professor Wilson then made a speech against the adoption of the resolutions, and was followed by several other five-minute speeches for and against the resolutions until the hour of adjournment arrived.

The general impression prevails that the resolutions will pass, but that the young men will not accept the conditions. The Hoosier Chautauqua.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. WARSAW, June 9 .-- Indiana has taken the lead in a number of things, among which not the least is the Spring Fountain Park Assembly, near Warsaw, soon to enter upon its second session. The idea of an Indiana Chautauqua was determined on June 15, 1889, at the Bates, in Indianapolis. Plans for an auditorium were immediately procured, and the work commenced. It is an octagonal structure, capable of seating 3,000 people, and is said by such men as Joseph Cook to be the finest outside of Chantauqua.

The programme for the coming session is without fault. Such names as Robert Mc-Intyre, George W. Bain, Josephine Nichols Bishop Joyce, Bishop Weaver, J. DeWitt Miller, Mrs. Ellen Foster, Dr. J. P. D. John, Gov. Will Cumback, Robert Norse, Dr. Willits, make its anticipation most delight-

The following men are in charge of the assembly: President and superintendent, Rev. D. C. Woolpert, M. D., D. D., of Elkhart: assistant superintendent. Rev. T. W. Special to the Indianapolis Journal. PERU, Ind., June 9.- Rev. S. C. Dickey. pastor of the Presbyterian Church o Peru, a commissioner to the recent Presbyterian Assembly at Detroit, and the only Indiana minister who voted with the fiftyty-nine against the report of the committee on Union Theological Seminary, says that his vote was not a vote of approval of Briggs's opinions, but one simply in favor of Mr. Worcester's substitute, whereby a committee of fifteen were to be appointed to confer with directors of Union Seminary. They were to reconsider the election of Dr. Briggs and in no case to allow him to teach during the coming year. Some of the directors were on the floor of the assembly and agreed to abide by the Worcester substitute. Rev. Dickey maintains his vote was for peace. He regards it as peculiarly unfortunate that a Princeton moderator should appoint as chairman of the commit tee on theological seminaries Dr. Francis L. Patton, Princeton's president, and that the committee thus appointed should not contain the name of a single man known to be favorable to Dr. Briggs. He further says that there were not more than five in the assembly who indorsed Dr. Briggs's views on inerrancy. He maintains there will be no division of Presbyterians, and that Dr. Briggs will be acquitted of the charge of heresy in the New York Presbytery and peace will reign. Epworth League, CINCINNATI, O., June 9 .- The second annual conference of the Fifth district of the Epworth League is in session here to-day. Kansas City Special to Omaha Bee. The visit of "Messiah" Schweinfurth to Kansas City and some of the incidents attending it have been heralded to the country, but some of the features have been omitted. A strong-featured, white-haired old man walked up close to Schweinfurth, and, looking him directly in the eye, said: "I am a Baptist. I believe in the second coming of the Lord. I have been praying for his return for a long time, since 1844. Tell me, am I to keep on looking or shall I look to you as the Messiah; which shall I

"Do the latter?" smiled Schweinfurth. "Do you mean that you are the Messiah?" "Yes: I am the Messiah; follow me and you will be all right," The old man was staggered. Schweinfurth took him by the hand. The questioner smiled in a battled way and said: "I am not satisfied. I have been looking for Christ to come in the clouds, heralded by a great shout. When he comes I shall be caught up to meet him. I am not satisfied." One of the disciples explained that the Bible description of the second coming was figurative. The cloud was error, which shadowed the world. The great noise was the talk which Schweinfurth's claim had caused. There would be lots of noise soon. Here the "Messiah's" sister, who had been just dying to say something, simpered and reminded the old man that He would come as a thief in the night. Sisters of common mortals can hardly look to the young lady as a teacher. She is a very ordinary-appearing miss of about twenty, and smiles, and smiles, and puts in whenever there's a chance. She also warned the aged seeker that he should not reject the Savior now that he had seen Him. The old gentleman had seen the Messiah. A man asked: "Is this the same Christ who preached to sinners 1,800 years ago?" "If you mean is this the same hand which touched Peter's ear, no; but I am the Messiah," was the reply.

Schweinfurth has been blacksmith, book agent and Methodist preacher. About twelve years ago, while he was preaching somewhere in Michigan, a Mrs. Beekman, from this city, who was laboring under the hallucination that she was to be the bride did not leave under the impression that he

of Christ, met him and told him that he was the Messiah. He believed her and started out on his career. The Methodists fired him incontinently. He talked freely, even volubly, of his life and emotions as a boy and young man. He had always been good, very good. His mother was a very good woman. He had all the temptations of other boys, but he was glad to say that he had the remembrance of never yielding to them. When his youthful companions said bad words and did evil things he left them. He grew up pious and virtuous and expected to find every body else of the same stamp. He was saddened when he saw things as they really were. He had venerated ministers. He had regarded them as like the prophets of old. He was shocked when he found them out. For a time he was "too modest" to tell people he was the Messiah, but finally he overcame his diffidence and let his light shine. He was getting wiser constantly; God revealed things to him. A little boy came to Schweinfurth and asked him to cure his crippled leg, saying his father had told him he could do it. Schweinfurth asked the child if his father had faith. The boy said the father had and would give $50 if the mirsele was performed. Schweinfurth told him to go and say to his father that he did nothing for money, but that if he had faith he would cure the son's lameness. The boy returned with the assurance that his parent had faith. "Why didn't he come with you, then?" was asked. The boy didn't know. Finally, looking at the cripple, he said: "If you believe, I can cure you. Pick up your crutches and walk home." "Mayn't I wait till I get down stairs?" asked the boy. Schweinfurth said "Yes." The little fellow got to the bottom of the stairs, when his father carried him home. The boy is still lame. He had no faith.

Home and Foreign Events of all descriptions are treated with a fullness and completeness not attempted by any other newspaper in Indiana. Among the newspapers of the State it is preeminently the best, and Indiana readers can nowhere else find what they want in the way of State and local news. It circulates largely in every county in Indiana, and has correspondents in every town and village of importance. This feature of the Journal, during the ensuing year, will be kept up to its present high standard of promptness and accuracy, and the service will be improved wherever it may be needed. The Journal's market reports are prepared with the greatest care possible, and no pains or expense are spared to make them accurate and absolutely reliable. The Journal is the only newspaper in the State owning and publishing all the news furnished by the two great press associations (the Western Associated Press and the United Press), in addition to which it furnishes an abundance of special service from all the principal cities of the country. It has been, and will in the future be, the aim of the publishers of the Indianapolis Journal to furnish a perfect and complete newspaper, deficient in no department or particular. No Indiana reader, certainly no Indiana Republican, should be without the Journal. While it is thoroughly and soundly Republican in politics, devoted to the interests of the Republicanparty, the Journal will not allow its news to be colored by partisan bias, but will give the news of the day without fear or
